Sept 19 – Guggenheim Fellowships

The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation provides approximately 200 fellowships/year for advanced professionals in all fields — including the natural sciences, social sciences, humanities, and creative arts — except the performing arts. The program seeks to further the development of scholars and artists by helping them engage in research in any field of knowledge and/or creation in any of the arts under the freest possible conditions.

Fellowships available to artists and scholars for between 6 and 12 months. Grant amounts vary. Intended for individuals who have already demonstrated exceptional capacity for productive scholarship or exceptional creative ability in the arts.

From small private colleges to large public universities, associate degrees to PhDs, our world needs the talents of these bright and brilliant graduates more than ever. Our democratic future depends on them. I'm optimistic that their energy and courage will buoy our nation and the world. And I am confident the rest of us will join them in embracing our responsibility to preserve and strengthen the freedoms we cherish.

Darren Walker, President, The Ford Foundation

NEW! Oct 1 – Society for Humanities Fellowships at Cornell University

Each year, the society seeks interdisciplinary research projects for residencies that reflect on the philosophical, aesthetic, political, legal, ecological, religious, and cultural Understandings of authority. The program welcomes applications from scholars and practitioners who are interested in investigating the topic from the broadest variety of international and disciplinary perspectives.

For the 2018-19 program, the society is inviting scholars to explore the ends of AUTHORITY, understood as its purposes, goals, and ideals as well as its limitations, aporias, and paradoxes. Each fellow will receive $50,000. Fellows who are living outside North America are eligible for an additional $2,000 to assist with travel costs.

Oct 5 – Radcliffe Institute Fellowships at Harvard University

The Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study at Harvard University is accepting applications for its 2018-2019 Fellowship Program. Stipends up to $77,500 for 1 year with additional funds for project expenses will be awarded to individuals working in the creative arts, humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, and mathematics to pursue projects within their fields. In addition, some support for relocation expenses is provided where relevant.

In addition to the stipend, fellows receive office or studio space and access to libraries and other resources of Harvard University during the fellowship year, which runs from early September 2018 through May 31, 2019. Visual, film, and video artists may apply for either one or two semesters. In the event that they come for 1 semester, the stipend is $38,750.

Radcliffe Fellows are expected to devote themselves full time to the work outlined in their proposal. Since this is a residential fellowship, fellows are expected to reside in the Boston area the fellowship period and to have their primary office at the institute to participate fully in the life of the community.

The deadline for individual applications in the creative arts, humanities, and social sciences is September 14, 2017. For applications in the natural sciences and mathematics, the deadline is October 5, 2017.
