

Double Counting rules in a nutshell....

A single course can be used to satisfy up to two requirements.

GE + Major = YES

Ex: HIST070B SC Intro to Modern US History – ok for Social Science GE + History major

GE + Minor = YES

Ex: ARHI153 SC Art & Architecture of India – ok for Letters GE + Art History minor

GE + GE = Yes if: Breadth + Interdisc (Example: letters + GWS, or soc sci + RES, etc)

No if: Breadth + Breadth (Ex: Letters + Fine Arts; Social Science + Nat Sci) .

No double counting among breadth reqs (Fine Arts, Science, Letters, Social Science)

Breadth requirements are discipline-specific so it's rare that any of these courses would overlap in this way in the first place.

Major + Major = Yes, up to two courses can double count between two majors.

Ex: POLI145 SC Race, Violence & the Law – ok for Legal Studies major + Politics major

Major + Minor = Yes, up to one course can double count between a major and a minor.

Ex: PSYC157 SC Psychology of the Black Woman– ok for Africana Studies major + Psyc minor

Minor + Minor = Yes, up to one course can double count between two minors

Ex: ITAI140 SC Italian Cinema – ok for Italian St minor + Media Studies minor

Caution:

There are a handful of courses which may meet many requirements. We restrict you to two requirements.

For example, CHST066 CH Fandango as a De-Colonial Tool:

Fine Arts! Race & Ethnic St! Gender & Women's St! American Studies! Chicanx St!

So if a Scripps student declares a FGSS / American Studies dual major, this course might appear 5 times in her degree audit. We don't allow that: CHST066 CH can be used to satisfy not more than two requirements; the student and her adviser can decide how best to use the course.
