The race and ethnic studies requirement assesses the systematic discrimination and exploitation of African Americans, Latino Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, and Arab Americans that have figured so critically in the history of this country. The requirement is met by taking a course that focuses primarily on one or more of these five groups in the United States.

Use the space below to explain why you believe this course meets the definition above and should fulfill the Scripps College Race and Ethnic Studies general education requirement. Attach the course syllabus.

Important:

For 5C courses: Instructor comment and signature are required; a statement of support by the appropriate Claremont Colleges Department Chair is recommended.

For non-5C courses: Instructor signature is not required but a statement of support by the appropriate Claremont Colleges Department Chair must accompany this petition.

Instructors at the Claremont Colleges: Before taking action on this petition, please be advised that approved courses will be added to Scripps' comprehensive list of approved courses fulfilling the Race and Ethnic Studies requirement. If the off-campus instructor does not approve the addition of her/his course to the list, the course will be added to a list of courses not approved to satisfy the requirement.
